RIGHT TO PARTICIPATE

Victimisation is when an education provider treats a student less favourably because:

- they are making a claim against an education provider for acting in breach of the Equality Act 2010; or
- they are providing information/evidence in the course of someone else making a claim; or
- their parent or sibling is making a complaint of discrimination.

In cases of victimisation, we recommend contacting the Equality Advisory & Support Service \(EASS\) runs a free helpline assisting individuals with equality and human rights issues across England, Scotland and Wales.
